

Travis Lyle Harmel (1984-2010)

Travis Harmel

Travis Lyle Harmel, born in Victorville, Calif., on Sept. 13, 1984, passed away June 12, 2010.

He was a lifetime resident of Barstow, where he grew up playing drums, skateboarding, snowboarding, riding motorcycles, traveling, and inherited a love of cars from his dad. As he grew into a young man, his love of drums led him to such accomplishments as the BHS Marching Band, Jazz band, and accompanying the band in Hawaii. He graduated Barstow High in 2002 and went on to work at the MCLB in Barstow. He was sent to Iraq and served six months civil service. After completing his time at the MCLB he went to work at Northrop Grumman for three years.

Travis was an amazing person; he gave his all for his family and friends. "Try" was not a word you would often find in his vocabulary. When he put his heart to something he saw it through. He was willful, courageous, and would try anything once.

He will be missed more than words can say.

He leaves behind his loving parents, Terry and Pat Harmel; sister, Amber Harmel; and his nephew, Ruben Harmel-Jaquez. He will be missed by an uncountable number of friends and family who loved him dearly.

We would like to thank everyone for your overwhelming support in this time of need and would like to invite you to share his life with us at Travis' memorial. It will be held on Saturday, June 26, 2010 at 2 p.m. at the Hinkley Bible Church, 37313 Hinkley Road.

Published in the Daily Press on June 21, 2010