

David Taylor Class of 1972

David graduated in 1972 from Barstow HS. David was affectionately nicknamed "the mountainman" because of the skills he developed in tanning deer hides and rabbit skins. He made a complete mountain man outfit from the hides and furs he preserved. He enjoyed hunting, camping, and exploring the wild, wild west.

He served a mission in Vancouver, British Columbia Mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

He married Cindy Fuller, who grew up in SLC. They had a daughter whom they named Amber because of her beautiful red hair (same as her mother's red hair). They adopted three brothers when they were young children. They are all happily married and have blessed David and Cindy with precious grandchildren. They have made their home in Lyman, Wyoming, for the past 20+ years. David was an electrician by trade, and together with Cindy and their children, they ran a successful Dutch oven catering business. His last catering service was just two weeks ago.

David suffered for the past decade with heart issues and subsequently had a triple bypass operation on his heart.

Yesterday, he lay down in the afternoon, and his wife discovered that he had passed away.

The funeral is tentatively planned for the week of September 22nd to allow extended family to attend our cousin David Nelson's funeral, which is scheduled for September 15th. David & Dennis Taylor, Brothers together forever.
